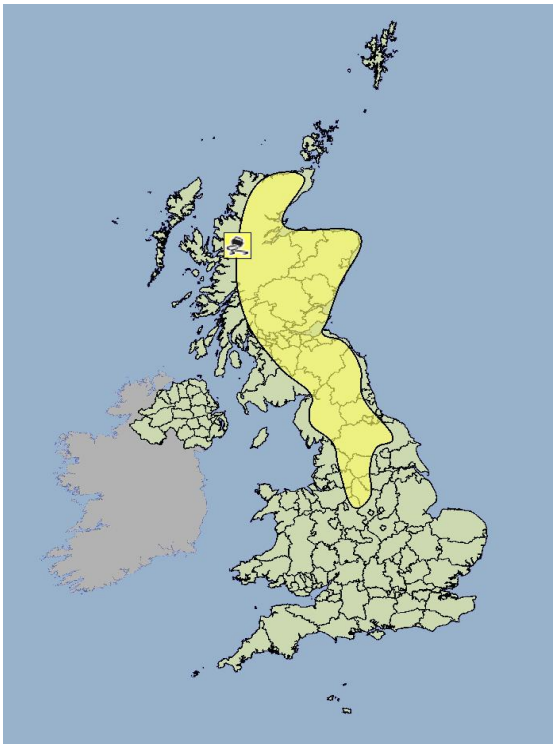
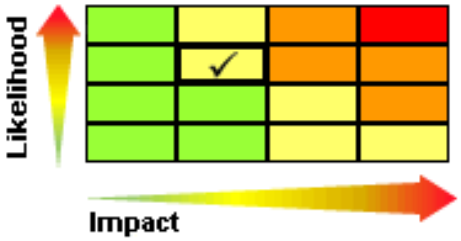
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
As we enter a spell of cold weather, a band of rain and snow will move into the UK overnight and into Saturday. Over high ground in Scotland and across the higher Pennine routes, snowfall may amount to 2 or 3 cm in places. However the main hazards seem more likely to come from ice, where rain falls on frozen surfaces.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 01:00 on Sat, 03rd Feb 2018 until 11:00 on Sat, 03rd Feb 2018

Rain and snow falling on frozen surfaces brings the threat of ice. Journeys by car, bike and foot may take longer than normal and there is an increased risk of injuries or accidents.
